

Revised Confession Procedures at St. James Church

In anticipation of the colder weather, some changes have been made to the procedures when going to confession. You may now enter the church hall using the ramp to the lower level. Once inside the hall, take a seat and wait your turn to be summoned into the confessional. Seating is socially distanced six feet apart. The confessional space also maintains the six-foot social distancing requirement. Only one person will be allowed into the confessional space at a time. In addition to the social distancing, parishioners are requested to wear a mask at all times while in the church. When you are finished with your confession, you may go up the church to say your penance or exit by the lower level. There are signs posted explaining the procedures. There will also be a member of the Knights of Columbus present to assist and answer questions.
